TRIPLE HOMICIDE IN HENRY CO., VA.

THREE BROTHERS INSTANTLY KULLED-

THREE OTHER MEN SHOT AND WOUNDED.

From The Petersberg Express, February 29.

The usually quiet and law-abiding people of the county of Heary have been intensely excited for the past three or four days, in consequence of a terrible tragedy—or rather triple tragedy—that was enacted in their midst on Saturday last. The particulars reached us last evening through a source entirely reliable. The details, although not as full as we shall doubtless be enabled to give at an early day, are sufficient to cause a thrill of horror at their mere recital.

It appears, according to the version given us, that some years since a granddaughter of the venerable and talented Vincent Witcher, esq., of Pittsylvania County, married a gentleman from the adjoining County of Henry, whose name was Clemmens. His Christian name we have been unable to ascertain. The matiden name of Mr. Witcher's granddaughter was Smith. The parties lived happily together until about

The parties lived happily together until about eighteen months since, when, upon the most unfounded suspicions, as we have been informed, Mr. Clemmen desired a separation from his wife, and immediately instituted proceedings for a divorce, at the same t mainteed proceedings for a divorce, at the same t mainteen the same t may be a set of the same t may be set of the sa ne, and the parties met at a magisterial precinct in

Henry County.

Mr. Witcher appeared to defend the suit and protect

Mr. Witcher appeared to defend the suit and profite the honor of his granddaughter.

The taking of the depositions progressed, and after the plaintill had finished with a witness, Mr. Witcher asked a question, which greatly exasperated the husband, Mr. Clemmens. He immediately arose, drawing a pistol at the same time, and fired at Mr. Witcher, Mr. Witcher, it seems, also rore, and drew a pistol from his pocket, and as the ball of his antagonist grazed around the abdomen, he fired, striking Clemorated from his pecket, and as the ball of his antagonist grazed around the abdomen, he fired, striking Clemmens in the forehead, and killing him instantly.

A nephew of Mr. Witcher, and a Mr. Smith, brother of Mrs. Clemmens, hearing the firing, rushed into the room. A brother of Mr. Clemmens, who had also been nitracted by the pistol reports, fired at a nephew of Mr. Witcher, the ball taking effect, and producing, it is feared, a fatal wound. Upon seeing his ney hew shot, Mr. Vincent Witcher again fired, striking Clemmens No. 2 and killing him instantly.

producing, it is feared, a fatal wound. Upon softing his neghew shot, Mr. Vincent Witcher again fired, striking Clemmens No. 2, and killing him instantly.

At this stage of the sanguinary affair, Mr. Smith, a brother of Mrs. Clemmens, drew a bowie knife, but had scarcely unsheathed the blade, when he was fired upon by a second brother of Clemmens, the ball taking effect in the shoulder, and producing a painful wound. Inforiated by his wound, Mr. Smith rushed upon his satagonist, and with one powerful thrust of the knife, completely disemboweled Clemmens No. 3, the unfortunate man falling dead on the spot.

Three of the parties doad, and the other three all wounded, the horrible tragedy here ended.

Vincent Witcher, esq. the chief actor in this terrible sflair, is widely known throughout virginia. He served for many years in the lower House of the Legislature, and subsequently represented his District in the State Senate with signal ability. He is a prominent member of the Whig party, and his name has been repeatedly mentioned in connection with the of fice of Governor of the Commonwealth. He succeeded Whitmell P. Tunstall, upon the death of that gentleman, as President of the Richmond and Danville Railroad. After two years' service he resigned the Presidency of the road, and has since been engaged in the practice of his profession—that of a lawyer.

Our informant states that throughout this painfal suit, which Mr. Witcher believes to have been instituted against an innocent grand-daughter, he has acted with great forbearance, and the part he has been com-which Mr. Witcher believes to have been insti-tuted against an innocent grand-daughter, he has acted with great forbearance, and the part he has been com-pelled finally to act will be with none a source of deeper regret than himself.

Of course the whole matter will undergo a judicial investigation. DEMOCRATIC OUTRAGE.

A GERMAN CITIZEN HANGED, BEATEN AND ROBBED.

From The Quincy (Ill.) Whig. Feb. 28.

Yesterday, a respectable German citizen of LaGrange, Mo., Mr. Frederick Schaller (a brother in-law of Mr. H. Dasbach, of this city) who has resided in LaGrange for the last twelve years, was brought to Quincy a victim to the herrors of a Pro-Slavery outrage—the recital of which is enough to make the blood of any man who has a herrors of a Pro-Slavery outrage—the recital of which is enough to make the blood of any man who has a soul boil in his veins. We called upon Mr. Schaller and obtained the statement which we publish below. We saw the bloody evidence of the terrible treatment he had undergone, heard the story of the affair as given by him, and could not help believing every word of his statement. He is a respectable and intelligent man, and his plain and simple account of the dastardly outrage was, we venture to say, implicitly credited by the hundreds of our citizens who called a: Mr. Dastach was a staterday.

We trust that our German citizens, especially those who have been in the habit of voting the Democratic ticket, will ponder well this flagitions outrage and then determine whether they can continue to voce with a party whose cardinal principle is the spread and extension of that institution which is the parent of such damable and brutal lawlessners.

We are under obligations to the editors of The Tribene for the translation of Mr. Schaller's statement:

STATEMENT OF MR. SCHALLER.

I have been a resident of Missouri for twelve years, having resided a part of the time in Palmyra, and part of the time in Lagrange. In the latter place I have roperty. I have never meddled with slaves or slavery, and have always been a Democrat.

Late last Fall or early in the Winter I heard that ten saves had run off; I knew nothing about it till I heard of it, and do not recollect of ever having seen them. I could therefore not have aided their escape. Nobody in Lagrange ever suspected me of tamporing with slaves, till last Sunday. I went on that day to Catton, to invite some friends to a party that was to take place last Tuesday. On my arrival there I was waited upon by three persons, Jim Ring, Josh Owens, and Bill Webster, who informed me of my being under suspicion of having aided the escape of a slave of Mr.—Harris, and would have to return with them. At they were in earnest. On the night on which the slave tan off, who was caught again, at ten o'clock, I can prove by twelve or fou, see persons that I was in my prove by twelve or fou, see persons that I was in my lone till twelve o'clock, consequently could not have aided the negro.

I returned with the three satisfied of my innoceace, and saked for a fair trial only, as I easily could have proven my innoceace. I was taken to the Lagrange House, and asked to be tried next day (Monday), but was relaxed. On Monday night an armed posse of 25 or 39 men came, tied our (my brother William's, Nob. Mattish, who had been taken before my return from Canton), and my hands, and put into a hack. Two others, Frusk Gerlach and a Mr. Holmes, were set free, but ordered to leave town. Our hands were tied and we were driven in the back about three miles on the Monyaday and where the hack stopped and I was taken

I became weaker, and when they untied me, I fell to the ground. I heard one of them say, "Now you can go you con of a —?" When I put on my clothes sgain, I found my money ($128 in gold) and watch gone. As I could not stand, I crawled as well as possible, to the house of my father-in-law, where Dr. Niemeyer treated me.

My brother, whom they had released, told me that they must have abused me for more than an hour.

I again say that I am as innecent of the charge as a child, and have never aided the escape of slaves.

The American (Mattia) is still in Lagrange, sick from a similar treatment.

It has stood the test for forty or fifty years among a people whom, if you knew them as intimately as I do, candor would compel you to admit them to be, according to the strictest standard of morality you may set up, not one whit behind those of sister States, perhaps of more pretentions. I approve the law, not on principle only, but because, for more than half a lifetime, I have witnessed its practical workings. Is peak of its influence on our own citizens. It is much to be regretted that any one should ever be compelled to seek a divorce cut of his own State. But even in alluding to abuses which have occurred in this connection, you provision regarding timely notice to the absent party is of the strictest kind.

You speak of Indiana as "the Paradise of free lovers." It is in New York and New England, refusing reasonable divorce, that free love prevails, not in Indiana. I never even heard the name there. You locate the Paradise, then, too far west.

And does it not occur to you, when a million of men, chiefly plain, hardy, industrious farmers, with wives whom, after the homely old fashion, they love, and daughters whose classify and happiness are as dear to them as if their homes were the wealthiest in the land—does it not occur to Horace Greeley that when these men go on deliberately for half a century maintaining unchanged [or, if changed at all, made more liberal) a law of divorce which he demounces as breeding disorder and immorality—that the million, with their long experience, may be right, and that Horace Greeley, without that experience, may be wrong?

men, or even as these Indianians. I think that we are justified in His sight, rather than you.

Or is it, perhaps, the amendment I did prepose and carry which seems to you hax in principle?—the prevision namely, that a wife should not be compelled to live with one who has been, for years, a habitual drunkard. You have told us that she ought to be so to live with one who has been, for years, a habitual drunkard. You have told us that she ought to be so compelled. It constantly occurs, you say, that a "virtuous and worthy girl" marries a man who becomes a "miserable loafer and sot;" and you add: "She will wish herself divorced from him; but the "law says No, and we stard to it." Think, for a moment, what this actually involves! Let us take the "single captive" lest the multiplicity of images distract us. See the young creature, "virtuous and worthy," awaiting, late in the solitary night, the fate to which, for life, you consign her; and that for no ain more beinous than that her girls heart, believing in human goodness, had trusted the vows and promises of a scoundrel. Is it her home where she is sitting? Let us not so desecrate the hallowed word. A bloated wretch, whom daily and nightly debauch has degraded below humanity, has the right to enter it. In what temper he will arrive God alono knows—all the animal wishin him, probably, aroused by drink. Will he beat her—the mother of his children, the one he had sworn to love and protect? Likely enough. Ah! well if that be all! The scourge, though its strokes may cause the flesh to shudder, cannot reach the soul. But the possible outrages of this "miserable loafer and sot" may. He has the command of torments, legally permitted, far beyond those of the lash. That bed-chamber is his, and the bed is the beast's own hir. That bed-chamber is his, and the bed is the beast's own lair. It depends, too, on the brute's dranken will whether it shall be shared or not. Caliban is lord and master, by legal right. There is not a womanly instinct that he cannot outrage; not a holy emotion that he may not profane. He is authorized to commit what more resembles an infamous crime, usually rated second to morder, and often punished with death, than careful of the committee of

It was once referred to myself, in conjunction with another member of the Legislature, for revision; and we amended it in a single point, namely: by adding to the causes of divorce "habitual drunkenness for two years." In no other particular, either by vote or proposition, have I been instrumental in framing or amending the law is question, directly or indirectly.

Do not imagine, however, that I seek to avoid any responsibility in regard to that law as it stands. I cordially approve it. The temperature was delicious, and not a cloud obscured the sky from morning till eventide. In the country, far from the tumult of the noisy town, in the peace of Sabbath observance, it must have indeed seemed that which the pious minstrel thus spostrophized in his beautiful and familiar hymn. In the city itself it seemed like one great breathing time for the thousands of overworn head and hand-workers, who, for six days in the week, are so hurried forward in business, that they hardly know whether the heavens are sending their rain or sunshine. The churches were unusually well attended; but the delight of the people at large seemed to be in spending their day of rest in the open air. How gratefully comes the first breath of Spring to those in populous cities pent! At an early hour the railroad cars and ferry boats leading from the city were crammed to overflowing with men, women, and chil-dren, all bound for the open suburbs. Staten Island, Hoboken, Weehawken, the rear districts of Brooklyn, the Central Park, and Jones's Wood, all were alive with our people, fleeing from the foul and unattractive

You talk of my "lax principles." I think that, by my past life, I have earned the right to be believed when I say what are my principles and what are not. On this subject they go just so far as the Indiana law, and no further. I have given proof of this. I have had a hundred opportunities, and never used them, to move its amendment. I was Chsirman of the Revision Committee of our Constitutional Convention; but in our Constitution we incorporated nothing in regard to divorce, except a prohibition against all divorces by the Legislature. To that I think you will not object. At the next session I was Chairman of the Committee drawn to make room for other novelties.

Niblo's Garden.—On Saturday night Mile. Zoyara had a crowded house for her benefit. ACADEMY OF MUSIC.-The matinee on Saturday drew a vast crowd. The season which has closed has not been distinguished by any novelty except Der Freischutz, which was badly put on the stage, and deserved a better fate. It is so seldom that a German opera is performed that every care should be taken in ustice to the rarity if nothing else. It seems to be now conceded that no opera originaly written to a German text except Martha-a work of much merit but not of the first character-will succeed here as a pièce de resistance. Fidelio was voted heavy; Zauberflöthe was not a complete success-the plot being foolish, and much of the music out of date; and the lovely and romantic Der Freischutz, with all its passionate, celestial and infernal strains and harmonies, failed to excite enthusiasm among the multitude. But Der Freischutz should be adequately rendered—its beauty will never be surpassed. It is, beyond all other operas, romantic, wild and wonderful. The three compositions by M. Muzio, the leader, gave evidence of his powers-espe cially the vocal aris and the overture. The more we hear of such a composer the better.

So many artists have come to this country that the list vet unheard is confined to two or three of renown. Rumor accords great powers to Mad. Tabbri, lately arrived here via South America, who will seen appear in this city. It is also stated that a young lady of this city, a pupil of Mr. Meyo's, is to take to the operatic stage. Miss Patti, it is announced, will proceed to London, to challenge the criticism of the old world. A young artist, Mr. Cooke of this city, with a beautiful tenor voice, intends, we learn, to go on the musi-cal boards. He has already sung at the Academy as an amateur, and he is universally admired in musical cir-

RESUMPTION OF NORTH RIVER NAVIGATION. -The ice is fast bresking up in the Hudson River, and to-day the barges between Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, and atis city, commence their regular trips, the river being clear as far as Crum Elbow, about five miles above the first-named place. Between Abany and Hudson, navigation is mostly open, but a few tough fields of ice still hold their own, and seem likely to do so for a short time yet to come. The last heavy rain created a freshet in the Mobawk, which emptied ized the Hudson such an unusual quantity of water, and cakes of ice, as to create a serious rise in the larger stream. When the ice broke up at Poughkeepsie on Friday afternoon, six men, who were engaged in the middle of the river, endeavoring to clear a passage across, found it almost impossible to save a boat, which they fortunately had with them, from being crushed in the whirling masses. They finally succeeded in safely reaching the shore. If the warm weather continues the river must soon be unlocked from Troy to this city, when the People's, Merchants', and Troy lines of steamboats, which have been thoroughly renovated during the Winter, will again offer their facilities to the traveling public.

D. P. DRLAYAN, esq., City Inspector—DEAR SIR: In consequence of Aldermanic and other official influence acting upon my employees, I find that it is impossible for me to proceed with the work of cleaning the streets under the temporary arrangement entered into with your Department, by and with the consent of the Mayor and Controller.

To clean the streets of the city immediately will require a large force of men and carts, which it is impossible to obtain in sufficient numbers to perform the work satisfactorily to myself, owing to the representations made in the Common Council, as well as to my curployees direct, that they would not be paid. Thereform, I respectfully decline to proceed further in this matter on and after this evening, the 3d inst.

troller Hawa's permission to commence work to-day under the old system, to which the latter at once re-

phied as follows:

Controller's Office, March 31, 1830.

Daniel R. Driayan, City Inspector: I have received your note of this date, informing me that Mr. Smith declines going on under the temporary arrangement made by you with him for cleaning the streets, and in reply have to state:

The streets are in a very bad condition. Public necessity requires that energetic measures should be adopted to have them cleaned, and also that the ashes and garbage which have accumulated for the past week forthwith be removed. I have therefore only to reiterate what I have expressed to you in person, that I am prepared to pay all just and reasonable expenditures incurred in promoting this object until a contract can be legally made in conformity with the Charter.

ROBT. T. HAWS, Controller.

Mr. Delayan thereupon summoned his subordinates together, and prepared with them a plan of operations for to-day's renewal of the unfinished street-cleaning

WHERE THE MISSING DROP-LETTERS HAVE GONE -One of the rascals who have hitherto plundered the lamp-post letter-boxes with impunity, has at length been apprehended by the courage and persistency of a Post-Office clerk, to whom the history of the capture is as creditable as it is disgraceful to a certain member of the City Police. On Thursday evening the clerk in question was walking up Broadway about 9 o'clock, and saw a man opening the box en the corner of Broadway and Broome street, with a key. Knowing that it was not the proper hour for making collections, he collared the man, and called upon a policeman who came at the time, to assist him in making the arrest. The latter chose to pay more respect to the mail-bag banging from the thief's shoulder than to the Post-Office clerk, and coolly allowed the rascal to walk off with his plunder—thirty letters or more. The next day, upon consultation with Mr. Fowler, an inspection was instituted of the bands in the employ of John B. Murray, contractor for putting up the boxes throughout the city. The clerk immediately recognized the thief, in the person of one Daniel F. Palmer, residing at No. 98 Christopher street. Palmer confessed his guilt, said he had stolen the key from his employer, and gave up all the money in his possession, $65 of which was the fruit of the robbery of the preceding evening. He has pursued this course since the boxes were first put up, and had accomplated quite a deposit in the savings bank, although a married man with only a salary of $6 per week. The prisoner waived an examination before the United States Commissioner, and his case will go before the Grand Jury to-day. The penalty for his crime is not less than ten years' imprisonment. The policeman who refused to make the arrest when called upon has been summoned before, the police authorities ount for his conduct. Under the his refusal shows him to be wholly incompetent to perform the duties of his berth. IMPROVEMENTS IN CANAL STREET .- The old French church in Canal street, between Centre street and Breadway, is now in process of demolition. The Devlin clothing house last Summer purchased this entire estate, running from Canal through to Howard street. The church and dwelling-house are now coming down, and a splendid pile of marble stores is immediately to he built there. The French Society, St. François Xavier, long since built up-town, and removed most of their valuables from this church, yet it has regularly been used for worship by Italian Catholics until Wednesday. The old National Hall, long the headquarters of the Whige, nearly opposite, is also to be semolished, and a large warehouse is to supply its OBITUARY -Mr. John G. Boker, the well-known senior partner of the importing house of John G. & J. Boker, of No. 98 Front street, died, on Saturday morning, of disease of the heart. Mr. Boker was earnest in his taste for aesthetic pursuits, and collected and brought to this country the fine paintings of the Dusseldorf school, so long familiar to our citizens from their exhibition on Broadway. This gallery was afterward purchased by Mr. C. A. Derby for the Cosmopolitan Art Association, to whom it now belongs. Mr. Boker was brought before the public a few years since by the eccentric course pursued by his daughter in marrying her father's coachman, and her father's efforts to render the marriage void. His remains will be taken to Germany for interment.

APPOINTMENTS AND REMOVALS -B. M. Sweeny was appointed to the office of bell ringer of the Thirtythird street fire tower, on Saturday, taking the place of Samuel H. Waugh, removed for political reasons. Samuel McKinley took the place of W. W. Tinkler of the Twenty-second street tower. Thomas Condy, appointed clerk of the Franklin Market by the City Inspector on the lat instant, was sworn into office by the Mayor.

THE COURTS FOR MARCH.—The March Term will be the busiest of the year. The calendars are largethe Supreme Court Special Term alone containing over 330 causes. There will be two Circuits held, and the Judges of the Sayerior Court have made a special order which will have the effect of greatly reducing the trial calendar of that Court. The United States Circuit and District Courts will be opened to-morrow, the former by Judge Smalley. The motion of Mrs. Forrest to coafirm the referee's report allowing her alimony will be decided in a few days. The Supreme Court General Term, and the Common Pleas General Term, will render decisions in causes heard last month before the close of the present term.

Ovice Passage.-The steamship Roanoke, Capt. Couch, which left this port Feb. 29, at 3 p. m., for Norfolk, Richmond, &c., arrived at 2 o'clock p. m., Sunday 4h, making the round trip in 95 hours, taken in and discharging full cargoes, being the shortest passage on record.

THE BURTON WILL CASE .- We are informed that our report, last week, was incorrect in stating that Mrs.

Elizabeth Borton's marriage with Mr. Burton was de clared void. It is stated that no such decision was ever made, and that she was never in Philadelphia, nor in any part of the United States. She is shortly expected to arrive from England, and then the proceedings before the Surrogate will show the facts of the case.

GYRRASTIC BURGLARS .- Officers Ploomer and Hull of the Twentieth Precinct early on Saturday morning found two burglars in the clothing store of George Wyant, No. 264 Ninth avenue. Finding that the officers had cut off escape by the front door, she two thieves jumped out of the back window and fied through the back yards of a row of twelve bouses in Twenty-second street. Each house was supplied with a back fence, and the agile burglars displayed considerable ground and lofty tumbling in jumping and climbing the same. They were hotly pursued by the officers, who were not far behind in gymnastic agility, and finally one of the fugitives becoming tired attempted to conceal himself in a corner of the yard, but was detected and secured. The other thief dashed through a glass door of one of the houses in Twentysecond street, and rushing up stairs sought to concea bimself in a lady's bedroom. The affrighted dames ran screaming to the street, and meeting the officer in formed him of the biding place of the culprit. He was finally dragged forth from beneath the lady's bed and safely conveyed to the Station-House in company with his confederate. Justice Quackenbush committed both the accused to answer.

A CRIMINAL COLORED COOK CAUGHT IN COURT,-Kate Johnson, a young colored woman, was employed about two months since as cook in the family of Mrs. Stanley, No. 63 West Thirteenth street. She held that position for the space of three days, when, one mornng, before the family were up, Kate departed in a hurried manner, taking with her a silk dress, some skirts and other clothing, valued at $80. Since then Detective Slowey has been looking for Kate, but she managed to keep out of the way until Saturday moraing. At that time another colored lady, named Mary John son, was being tried in the Court of Special Sessions on a charge of robbing her mistress, and among the witnesses present to testify in Mary's behalf, was the identical Kate who had been so long wanted. She was accordingly arrested, and taken to Headquarters, where she confessed her guilt. Meantime Mary John son was discharged by the Court, but was instantly rearrested by Detective King on another charge of robbery. She was also taken to Headquarters, and detained for examination.

A Boous Postman .- On Saturday last, a man who gave his name as John Reed was arrested in the Twenty-first Ward while in the act of delivering some begus letters. He had with him a large number of letters, directed to different residents of the ward, containing a string of nonzense, which he would deliver at the proper address and demand two cents therefor. He stated that he had been for some time out of employment, and had adopted this petty swindle to raise funds. He refused to give his residence, on account of having a wife and family. He was committed by Justice Quackenbush for examination. A Row Among LABORERS,-On Saturday night

A Row Among Laboures.—On Saturday night three Irish laborers, named Thomas Grant, Owen Riley, and John Kiernan, got into a fight at No. 129 East Eleventh street, at a grocery store kept by James MoGuire. It appears that Grant's wife and Kiernan had gone out tegether, and that subsequently the enranged husband found the absconding couple at the grocery store of McGuire. Hard words were passed promiscuously about, Owen Riley coming in for a full above. Of course a right was the result, during which some one stabled Grant twice, once in the face, and once in the leg. Kiernan was also elightly out in the arm. Riley and Grant were arrested subsequently, and held for examination on a charge of having committed a felonious assault. ARREST OF YOUNG BURGLARS—On Friday hight, two young men, named Stephen O'Donnell and Robert Coxwell, were arrested by Ward Detectives Irving and Glow, of the Twentieth Precinct, charged with burglary. The office of D. Mclihaney, No. 267 West Twenty sixth street, was broken into curing the early part of the night and robbed of a pixel and other articles of small value. The thieves had also attempted to blow open the sale by putting powder in the lock, but had failed. The officers also charge them with one or two other late attempts at burglary in the same ward. The stolen pixtol wafound in their possession, and they were committed by Justice Kelly.

ROBBING A BOARDING-HOUSE .- Mrs. Jane Haight ROBBING A BOARDING-HOUSE.—DIFS. Jaile Builds an elderly widow lady keeps a bearding-house at No. 13 East Broadway. Mrs. Halpht had in her employ a lad named Thomas Famer, seed seventeen years, who was engaged to do errands, "chores." On Friday last a gold watch and chain valued at $120 and $24 in cash were missing from the bureau whereinsuch articles were usually kept. Thomas was suspected of having stolen the valuables, and on being accused, he fully confessed that he committed the thet. He was taken before Justice Steers, where he restored the property, and was committed to answer.

ANOCKED DOWN AND ROBBED.—John Shen was arrested yesterday charged with having, on the 1st inst., knocked down and robbed James Kelly, an attache of the Essex Market Prison. Kelly was passing through Baxter street at the time when he was accosted by Shea and another person, who by force robbed him of his coat and watch, valued at $78. Shea subsequently appeared in the street with the identical garment on his back, was recognized and arrested. An examination was had before Justice Connolly, when the accused was committed to answer. The complainant was also detained as a witness. KNOCKED DOWN AND ROBBED .- John Shea was ar anything else.

And, in this foul pit of degration, you would leave to a fate too horrible for infamy itself, a pure, gentle, blameless, Christian wife! Her cry thence may ascend to heaven; but, on earth, you think it should be stilled or contemned. She entreats for relief, for escape from the pollution she abhors; you look down upon her misery, and answer her, "The law says no, and we stand to it."

God forgive you, Horace Greeley, the inhuman san-Stand to it."

God forgive you, Horace Greeley, the inhuman sentiment! I believe you to be a good man, desiring human improvement, the friend of what you deem essential to al morality. God send that you may never, in th person of a daughter of your own, and in the recital of her tortures, practically learn the terrible lesson how far you have strayed from the right! of her tortures, practically learn the terrible lesson how far you have strayed from the right!

Further to argue the general question would be an unwarrantable intrasion on your columns. Suffice it to say, that if I differ from you as to the expediency of occasionally dissolving misery-bringing unions, it is precisely because I regard the mariage relation as the holiest of earthly institutions. It is for that very reason that I seek to preserve its purity, when other expedients fail, by the besom of divorce. No human relation ought to be suffered so to degenerate that it defeats the purpose of its institution. God imposes no laws on man merely to have the pleasure of seeing them obeyed; but, on the contrary, with special reference to His creatures welfare and improvement. Marriage itself, like the Sabbath, was made for man; not man for marriage. It fulfills God's intention so long as the domestic home is the abode of purity, of noble sentiment, of loving kindness, or, at least, of mutual forbearance. But it defeats His purpose, and violates the divine economy, when it becomes the daily cause of grievous words and heartless deeds, of anger, strifes selfishness, cruelty, ruffianism. That it should ever be thus degraded and perverted, all good men must lament; and all ought earnestly to seek the most effectual remedy.

In pa country have I found the marriage obligation tan off, who was caught again, at ten o'clock, I can prove by twelve or four sen persons that I was in my houre till twelve o'clock, consequently could not have to little binding as in the astion near whose Court, as Minister, I recently spent five years—a country where marriage is a sacrament and divorce an impossibility; and where, indeed, on account of their "lax principles," the inhabitants neither heed nor care for it. In heard of Mr. Vandsorn, I could not give the answer they wanted. They took me about a quarter of a mile into the woods and hanged me. I caught the tree, but by heating my hands with ricks they compelled me to let go my hold. Soon I was senseless. When I came to again, I felt two persons, one on each side, whipping no country have I seen marriage and its vows more strictly respected than in my adopted State, where the relation, when it engenders immorality, may be terminated by law. For the rest, divorces in Indiana are far less frequent than strangers, reading our divorce law, might be led to imagine. We find Jefferson's words to be as true of married persons as of the rest of mankind. They "are more disposed to suffer while "evils are sufferable, than to right themselves while "solis are sufferable, than to right themselves have been accusabolishing the forms to which they have been accus-
